

PRABDA

ПРОЛЕТАРИИ ВСЕХ СТРАН, СОЕДИНЯЙТЕСЬ! ПРОЛЕТАРИ ВСЕХ КРАЙН, ЕДИНЯЙТЕСЬ! ПРОЛЕТАРЫ
БАРЫК ЕЛДЕРДІН ПРОЛЕТАРААРЫ БІРІГІНДЕРІ ЗАМІСЬАДЖАМЪ ЗЗЗЗЗ ЗЗЗЗЗЗЗЗ, ЗЗЗЗЗЗЗЗЗЗ БУТУН

Volume 1, No.1, APRIL 1, 1986

LEMONOSOV UNIVERSITY, MOSCOW

Inside

News:

Marcos is about to donate his huge property to the Laurentian Fund. Reports from Hawaii say that Laurentian is very well known there.

page 24

Feature:

A business manager that should have been fired long time ago. An Exclusive Interview with Lambda budget keeper Robb Risto

page 61

Tina gets the shit kicked out of her, 48

Показывает Суоми

Излишнее — уродливо, красивое — современно и... экономично — именно так можно определить девиз крупнейшей финской экспозиции, организованной в этом году за рубежом Суоми, — «Рациональное строительство-86». Стенды около 150 фирм вместили один из крупнейших павильонов московских Сокольников.

...Многие сооружения в нашей стране — промышленные предприятия, гостиницы, порты и склады, а то и целые города, такие, как Костомукша и Светогорск, хранят тепло рук финских строителей. Причем мастера из дружественной страны, что особенно важно для этой статьи ее экспорта, умеют хорошо строить в самых суровых климатических условиях. В Москве успешно работает постоянное представительство «Финстрой». Это акционерное общество объединило многие компании для совместной взаимовыгодной работы с советскими организациями.

Концерн «Пуолимаатка» вместе с нашими специалистами построил, например, крупнейшую в мире фабрику по производству разовых акушерских комплектов в Кондрово Калужской области, фабрику пластмассовой пленки и обоев в Таллине...

Директор компании «Серлакус» — другого давнего партнера нашей страны — Эса Хухтасаари показывает красочные альбомы интерьеров, образцов мебели, покрытых плитками из слоистого пластика — материала легко мо-

В. ШМЫГАНОВСКИЙ.

Bottled Fury Released, Two Dead

by Tedy Bearsby

After an unprecedented flurry of violence, Laurentian woke up yesterday with two dead bodies in the Prabda offices.

Early yesterday morning, SGA VP services John D'Agostino rushed into the newspaper office armed with a deadly butter knife. He mortally wounded Prabda editor Yanis Souris leaving filthy margarine stains all over Yanis' favorite jacket. D'agostino then proudly shouted at the top of his lungs, "I am vindicated! That rat Souris ain't never gonna humiliate nobody again!"

After other Prabda staffers tried to calm him down, D'agostino hanged himself in a messy guilty passion.

His last words were appropriately enough: "I'll check my own coat thank-you."

Both men were announced dead on arrival at Sudbury General Hospital.

Present at the murder-suicide scene, Prabda staffer Juliann Daniel described his feelings thusly, "John knew that this was the only way to redeem his reputation, thank God it was Yanis he went after and not me! ... I hate margarine."

All that remains to be seen now is how security plans to handle this tragedy.

Rick Cloucher, head of student security, was vague when asked his plans.

"I think we should just forget about all of this, neither fellow was very popular and I'm certain they won't be missed, maybe its best left alone, mind you, I plan to send floral arrangements to both funerals... in the form of cactus," Cloucher said.

Tramautic SGA Episod

Farrella Held Hostage

by Eye Witless Prabda
News Reporter Tony Purina

Early last evening, all was not quiet on the campus' western front.

A lone terrorist staged a knife wielding attack on our newly elected president, Ben Farrella.

It seemed the incident occurred following a short Student General Association meeting. As members of the senate were leaving the boardroom, a masked individual approached Farella in a conspicuous manner.

At the time of the incident, estimated by Laurentian's S.W.A.T. (Security Without Any Talent) Team at 10:55 p.m. EST, all executive council members had vacated the premises. Farrella was hard at work behind his lemon pledge-shined desk when a woman representing S.E.C.A. (Sports Equality on Campus Activities) suddenly emerged from behind the closed doors. She quickly tied him down (using some of the red tape from around the office) and began pleading her demands, including more equitable representation on SGA for all varsity sports teams.

At this time, she allowed Farrella to phone his council to explain the circumstances surrounding the takeover.

According to the terrorist's demands he (Farrella) would have to ensure equal opportunity to all athletes on campus and eliminate council's plans of attending the World Cup in Mexico this summer. If these were not met within the next 24 hours, he would have his life suspended...permanently. The hostage taker was actually quoted as saying that Farrella would be "chopped up into tiny pieces and trown in da garbige".

Early this morning, we recieved notice that these demands were met just before the final hour of judgement. As part of the demands outlined by the gangster, a complete discharge of all charges as well as a dismissal of recognition was agreed to. For these reasons we are not able to gain any insight into this traumatic life threatening ordeal.

Final details were not available at press time.

Lenin wants you to read this issue

QUANGO
(Oct 13 only)

Kill'm Ronny, Kill'm...

Sports Shorts

by Big Guy

Soccer team travel to Greece for summer exhibition series ... illegal recruiting schemes rumoured ... major renovations planned for Alex Baumann Olympic Gold pool ... featuring new improved water with 55% less viscous drag ... intentions to reschedule varsity athletics calendar to the middle of the week instead of only weekend games allowing athletes to party on pub night (discussions of moving pub night to Tuesday's for similar reasons continued)... increased seating facilities are currently being installed overlooking both the track and field and soccer centres ... expectations are high for next season ... talks of domed stadium are still up in the air (way up in the air) ... coaching shuffle sees b-ball staff switch teams while Ben Farrella and Van Zorbvas take over the soccer leadership roles ... Tennis and golf teams in the works for next September as Laurentian an ideal candidate with extended summer season as noted in the 1986 Farmers' Almanac ... team colours will change from blue and yellow to yellow and yellow ... should be especially helpful for night games.

Human Rights Codes Affects Laurentian Sports

by Biggest Guy

In a recently released amendment to the Ontario Human Rights Code, changes are expected in the coming varsity season.

Section 19(2) of the Code gives all athletes the equivocal rights for the purposes of team sports. Anyone is eligible for any team regardless of the person's sex. With this dramatic change we can look forward to an overhaul of Laurentian sports.

It is expected that players cut from the men's basketball team will tryout for the women's club. With the added height and strength advantage behind them, the Voyageurs should be able to capture the national title after a long dry spell.

The amendment will also affect the alpine ski team but in a different way. With so many top performances coming from the women's team and a lack of competent racers on the men's side, it is expected that the fellows will have a much improved team next year with the acceptance of all comers for positions on the team.

So, we can expect a superior effort from many of our teams next season with the addition of this new amendment, allowing equal opportunity for unequal athletes.

Die hard hockey supporters too ashamed to reveal true identity after recent losing streak

Mandatory Age Lifted

It seems that next year will be a very exciting one, now that the mandatory age to enter university has been lifted. That along with the ruling that all students who complete grade ten be admitted to university regardless of academic standing, should ensure that anyone with five or six thousand dollars to blow be able to attend an accredited Canadian university.

There, of course have been the expected protests. These protests have been completely surpassed by the enthusiastic response of university administrators across Canada.

The newly generated revenue from tuition and residences alone will more than cover the cost of hiring new educators. Parents and concerned students are distressed because they feel there will be more reliance on teaching assistants. They feel that the quality of a university education will deteriorate immeasurably.

University Administrators argue that the quality of a university education will not change. Students will still be unable to find jobs when they graduate.

There will be problems, however, with ten and eleven year olds living in residence. It is expected that many residences will be forced to have quiet hours all year. There is also talk in d'Ottawa of a mandatory lights out time. The time being banded about in Parliament is 8:30 p.m.

This is seen in d'Ottawa as a way of boosting local economies as many of the more mature students (19 plus) are expected to seek off campus housing. It has also been pointed out that those mature students remaining on campus will be able to supplement their existence by babysitting.

Then there are the usual social activities that will have to be somewhat modified as the drinking age is not expected to change. There is talk of non-alcoholic Thursday night pubs. Again this is seen as a shot in the arm for the local economies, as many students will be forced to patronize off campus drinking establishments.

Overall this scheme is seen in two ways. The first being the ability to provide an excellent education to all citizens. The second is that in these depressed times, it is a way of pulling the Canadian economy out of its present slump.

It certainly doesn't take a commerce student to understand the justification for this new deal. It does make the work of a Don or Proctor marginally more difficult.

Who knows we may live to see the Canadian dollar on par with the United States dollar. Watch our Ronnie, here we come!

Nif

The Great Dilemma

Due to the large amount of money he saved from the LUSA strike, Laurentian University President, Dr. John Daniel faces a great dilemma; what is more economical: front-end loaders to clear snow in the winter and maintain roads in the summer, new technology for teaching and research, or to hire more professors? (Profs not shown above.) As Chair of the Budget Committee, Daniel tries to save as much as possible and is continually faced with this sort of problem.

Baumann To Join Hockey Vees

In an unheard of sports transistion, Canada's top individual medley swimmer has decided to try out for the 1986-87 Laurentian Hockey Vees.

Prabda reporter Rick Clouthier interviewed Alex Baumann and came up with this response. "I find that in the winter, water freezes," Baumann said, "and if I can't swim in it, I may as well skate on it!"

An ecstatic Vees coach Moe Bartoli was quoted as saying, "If he can skate half as fast as he can swim then I'll have the next Sasha Gretzky."

When asked where he would utilize Baumann, Bartoli stated unequivocally, "On my goon line with Pat Moore and Ray Plante, that way no one will ever think of touching my star player."

Prabda Sports reporters are wondering how an aging athlete such as Baumann could suddenly just decide to take up varsity hockey without any prior experience in the game.

Bartoli just said that in the words of Robert Redford, "The kid's a natural."

Well, this reporter for one is hopeful that the addition of a class athlete such as Sasha will pull the Vees out from the doldrums of the OUAA basement.

"We don't make missiles, we defend them," says Terry Laronde, Canadian Marconi Engineer.

“Are you a Gay Christian? If so, then that's fine by us. We don't mind at all. If homosexuality is 'your bag,' if that's the kind of thing you're into — great. Fantastic. But don't be ashamed. Stand up. Come 'out of the toilet' as the phrase has it. Say proudly 'I am tempted to be one.' You may even decide — after much prayer — to enter into a committed, even tempted, relationship with a member of the same genital group. And if you do, and if you feel you really can do nothing about it, you've been to a psychiatrist, had aversion therapy, tied metal weights to your private parts and still feel these tendencies, then I'm afraid it just means that God wants you to have a rotten life.

God's like that. He hates poofs.”

 LAURENTIAN
GAY
CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Help us to find treasures on earth

"It is easier for a rich man to enter a camel, than it is for a poor man to." Genitals III, vii

SGA propaganda all year long. SAGA food every six hours. Prabda every day.

Prabda: Meeting all your basic needs.

Neanderthal Specimen Found
Living In Sudbury

In a discovery that is troubling scientists worldwide, a living specimen of Homo Neanderthalis, or Neanderthal man, has been found.

The existence of the apeman, known simply as 'Chuck', was revealed when he fell out of his L.U. Arboritum tree-house onto the head of geology professor T. Beswick. Upon close examination of Chuck's large, hairy features, Beswick decided that he was indeed Neanderthal, a species related to man that was believed to have died out 20,000 years ago from impotency and syphilis.

Chuck, however, was discovered to have been keeping a harem of captured females in his tree, mostly university sorority girls, and had ten children, all half-breeds. A debate is raging in the scientific community as to where Chuck came from and whether or not he proves the theory of evolution.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

Required:
Position #1-4-24
ASSISTANT COORDINATOR

Responsibilities:
-Effectively record and issue reports on certain projects.
-Maintain a constant rapport with staff and clients on a daily basis.
-Update certain existing files.
-Assist project manager whenever needed.
-Performs other duties directly related to this position as assigned.

Qualifications:
-University student entering fourth year in History or Political Science.
-Experience writing out reports.
-Communication skills.

Salary:
-$400/wk. for 4 months
-Competition closes April 1, 1986 at 4:30 p.m.
Apply in writing and send resume to:
F.P. HUCKSTER (Mrs.)
MANAGER, EMPLOYMENT AND STAFF RELATIONS DEPT. OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS
c/o Lambda Publications
Laurentian University
Sudbury, Ontario
P3E 2C6

As Editor-in-Chief of Prabda, I'd like to thank all those who help me put out this last issue.

GRATIAS
effrarisgo

GRACIAS
merci
thank you

danke schön
多謝

Grazie
MÉCI
merisi

The Rat

Are you sensitive?
Are you easily hurt?
Do you take adverse criticism to heart?
Do you sometimes feel that life is passing you by? That the other man gets more out of life than you do?

You do? Good. Well keep it up. That's why we in advertising make so much money.

Legal. Decent. Honest. Truthful. ✓

Are you those things too? Oh goody, better and better. Yum yum yum.

Read Prabda

Menu
Marrowskin Segments in Brine	Salade Cousteau Shredded Italian seaweed on a bed of cabbage
or	or
First Officer Harold Willis	Mrs Karl Schmidt Housewife from Düsseldorf, West Germany
or	or
Cerveaux du Chat Irlandais Chunky portions of Limerick kitten on wet toast	Crème Sago
or	or
Pierre duGarde A computer export sales manager from Rouen, France	Cardinal Alberto Compostella Papal delegate to Chile
or	or
Cocktail Sausages Façon de Qantas Served in a thin film of polywrap	Ryvita, Primula
or	or
Anne-Marie Spencer-Jones An airline hostess from Croydon, Surrey	David Cohen Airline security officer, Natanya, Israel
or	or
	Polo Mints
	Coffeemate or Something in a Plastic Bag We Can't Put A Name To

Under new safety regulations, leading airlines have withdrawn all aircraft over sixteen years old and put them out to stud.

Beware Of this Man

Identified as "Brandon the Flasher," this man has been terrorizing the Single Students' Residence for quite a while, Laurentian Security reports say.

Eyewitnesses told Prabda the Flasher has been walking the Student Street late at night showing his stuff to unsuspected, innocent young ladies who were unfortunate enough to run into him.

But the Flasher revealed himself recently.

After an extensive investigation Prabda crime reporters conducted last week, the Flasher agreed to give an interview to the paper.

It seems that the Flasher is not exactly the guy every woman on campus is afraid of.

Exposing himself to our reporter, Brandon said he is a nice guy, well-mannered and polite. But loneliness has gotten into him and due to inability to express himself otherwise, like doing well at school, getting a job or painting, he feels he can get his point across by revealing secret parts of his body to the female population of Laurentian.

"I do nothing wrong," the Flasher said. "I believe in freedom of expression and I'll do whatever I want. I wish Security understood me and not chase after me at 4 O'clock in the morning ... Please leave me alone."

The Flasher, as reliable sources revealed, has escaped from the Sudbury Sanatorium early this year.

Prabda promised not to expose Brandon to security.

••TELEX••

Thanks to Minister of Colleges and Universities, Gregory Sorbara, money that was generously granted to us will exactly cover the Prabda Renovations (Scam) Scheme. Outgoing Editor loves the idea of sun lamps ... Hey, Big Guy, get Off the Turntable, you'll break it ... New SGA Vice-President Internal cuts ribbon at opening of campus barber shop ... Reliable sources indicate that Phil Collins will open new Campus Centre ... Statistics Canada reports recently revealed that Ben Farella is the youngest Student Union president in Canadian University history. Meanwhile, Greg Zorbas has been appointed to a special SGA advisory committee ... Employment Centre on Campus reminds us of the benefits of being elected to SGA executive — you improve your wardrobe and sex life, money (lots), work (minimal). Inside sources said last week that the Commerce Council and Administration will soon be switching offices ... In a wildly expected move, the Minister of Consumer Affairs has appointed SAGA Foods to be the official sponsor of the 1986 Purina Games, only to have his house picketed by animal rights activists demonstrating against cruelty to animals ... John D'Agostino and Connie Colville, in a desperate move to rejuvenate the Pub, have announced the lifting of restrictions on high school students. Pub patrons feel that this policy is unfair, but have realized that most patrons are underaged anyway. Pub security has requested that all customers who wish to throw money at them throw nothing less than a quarter (eggs, however, are still banned but they are under review) ... The International award for Journalistic Excellency was granted to Prabda's own Dear Pierre, late reports from Vancouver said. The skilled author of the infamous column, Brandy Tennant, has been going berzerk from his joy since the announcement was made ... During a speech that Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy delivered from his balcony in Tripoli, he announced that he does not like Laurentian's President anymore. John Daniel did not respond to Khadafy's threats, however administration sources said he plans to use a large portion of the university's operating budget to buy missiles (surface-to-air) and a couple of Hornets to defend the 11th floor of the library tower in case of nuclear attack ... A secret report from the Minister of Health revealed that Health Services' Eddie Najgebauer has not yet received his medical degree. And you thought you were dying of cancer! Cheer up ... SSR formal was a big success. It was nice to see that the Northbury provided a special floor-level bar for the first table. By the way, love the hat — but it looks suspiciously like our missing tea cosy ...

Read Prabda

Labatt's Shifts Management

by Prabda News Staff

In an unprecedented corporate shuffle, Labatt's Canada has promoted John Metcalfe from Laurentian Campus Representative to President of the Toronto Blue Jays baseball team.

The former President of the Jays, Pat Gillick has been sent to Laurentian to head Labatt's promotions for the Sudbury area.

Mr. Gillick was quoted as saying, "At least I'm not going to Cleveland."

Gillick then wanted to know if Laurentian had a varsity baseball team. "I know I can sign Jeff Burroughs," Gillick insisted.

Meanwhile, a delirious John Metcalfe stated that he plans to change the Jays' moniker to Hawks after his Huntington alma mater, and that he will personally manage the team. Player representative Jesse Barfield was heard saying, "It'll take a big man to handle this job."

A LIFE IN THE DAY OF

COLONEL GADDAFI

“Allah guides my breakfast — normally paprika and a glass of humus. Then I read the Koran looking for loopholes until my brain aches. Then I do something deranged, have supper, and go to bed.”

Yannis Souris

For anyone out there who has had his or her head in the clouds all year, Yannis is the LAMBDA Editor-in-Chief. The paper has come a long way this year and almost all of it can be attributed to this insanely dedicated individual. He can be fun too, just whisper "Migod, the typesetter blew up" behind his back and he'll guarantee you fifteen minutes of hilarious terror.

Diana Competrini

A great photographer who won many awards and distinctions, Diana worked for the Life Magazine before Lambda asked her to be its photo editor.

Ted Markle

Mr. Congeniality here is more than just the LAMBDA clown; he's next year's editor in chief. As a poet, killer of fish, actor and friend to Mennonites we feel he is well suited for the helm of a high-powered operation like LAMBDA.

Rick Clouthier

a.k.a. ZZ Man. Everyone who reads LAMBDA's record reviews or drinks knows Ricky. Soon to graduate, we will all miss Big Guy (if only he'd stop demanding a whole page). Get off the turntable! You'll break it!?!?

Nicole Loreto

Nicole is the 'watchdog of Lambda' as her job is to overlook the Lambda budget. She is the chairperson of our Board of Directors.

Bruce Hennessy

Producer of the best Lambda Sports section in years, Bruce decided to change his game plan and become the new Business Manager of the paper.

Roberta Zorzi

Head typesetter and co-production manager, 'Bert' is the fastest typist Lambda has ever had.

Jenifer Rush Brandon Tennant

Pictured here in repose. Jenny has been a LAMBDA news reporter and is next year's Assistant Editor. Generally a busy person, Jenny will be balancing fourth year economics with her new position. Brandon took this picture too.

Julian Daniel

Or as we more appropriately think of him THE MIDNIGHT MADMAN. Julian is our beloved co-production manager and is famous for his creative erraticism and philosophical opposition to deadlines, which often leave him blurry-eyed and on the verge of hysteria on production nights.

Harikla Vlahos

Harikla is the present Lambda Features editor. She is a shy individual and thus has decided to remain in the background next year. She'll be sitting on the Lambda Board of Directors.

Lorie Cunningham

Lorie has a yearning for a stage career but until her great break comes, she'll remain Entertainment Editor for one more year.

Yannis Mitsopoulos

We caught this photographer while he was pondering what speed of film to use for his next series of shots. Yannis spends a lot of time pondering and grabbing unsuspecting bystanders to help him figure out his latest academic dilemmas (i.e. homework).

Sheena Weir

Brains and beauty and maybe... is that POWER Sheena? Hmm. Sheena is a LAMBDA newspaper reporter and runner-up for the SGA Presidency. We'd like to have her back next year, but I think she hears Europe calling.

Lambda Staff .. Lambda Staff ..